Hello – I'm Deidra! An Austin, TX resident and Ticketing Princess that brings a combination of over 20 years of industry experience married with a passion for live events, music, and of course, ticketing! My diverse background on both the venue box office and promoter sides of full-time employment with Live Nation and C3 Presents for years, has recently afforded me the opportunity to become an independent contractor for ticketing, box office, credentials, and general event planning for a multitude of events for the past 4 years. Event/project experience include national stadium and arena concert tours, Lollapalooza in North and South America, the NFL Draft, food & wine events, camping music festivals, drive-in concerts, family attractions, private/corporate concert events, traveling exhibits, and more. My general ticketing touch ranges from standard remote and onsite box office planning operations and management, internal and public facing credentials, vehicle credentialing for parking and camping events, campground patron ticketing, shuttle ticket operations and guest coordination, GA / reserved seating / VIP / platinum / corporate hospitality ticketing, customer service, and artist ticketing. More specific responsibilities frequently include ticket scaling and dynamic pricing, layaway payment planning, technical system onsale builds and launches, departmental budget creation and oversight, event staff + volunteer recruitment / scheduling / training / payroll, guest literature copy writing and implementation, onsite structural planning, access control scanning (hard ticket/mobile/paperless/RFID), ingress / egress traffic flow patterns, directional signage and gate messaging, guest ticket / scanning assistance, inventory / attendance monitoring, emergency situation and evacuation preparedness, cross-departmental planning and collaboration for hands-on solutions, event forecasting, sales tracking, reporting, cash management, and general comic relief!

As a former conference services manager, I utilize the knowledge of vendor operations, along with vast travel knowledge and ongoing experiences with a diverse client base to determine what works best for each aspect of an event. This enables me to quickly and efficiently transition into any project. Paying close attention to big picture components, such as budget, venue selection, contract negotiation, travel logistics, and compliance is as important to the overall attendee experience as the on-site execution details including proper setup, smooth registration, timing of each element, and dissemination of accurate information. From concept creation to program reconciliation, I'm happy to step in wherever needed to devote the skill and attention necessary to ensure a successful event.

Social Media Links and Bio:

Nick Barbian, a Wisconsin native, began his career in the Production Department at Milwaukee's Summerfest. After touring with acts including The Jonas Brothers, Neil Diamond and Michael Bolton, he moved to London, England where he completed his Master's degree and secured the position of talent manager at Monumental Music Group, eventually working his way to becoming a partner in the company.

In 2011, Nick returned to the States and made the move to Austin, TX, where he first worked on the Production team at Austin City Limits Live and then as a Promoter Rep for C3 Presents. In 2013, Nick founded The Angry Armadillo Music Company which quickly built an extensive portfolio as an independent concert promoter, as well as developing and consulting with numerous venues, festivals and special events in Texas and the Midwest. Angry Armadillo has produced projects on behalf of clients including GSD&M, Paradigm Talent Agency, Westin-Marriott Hotels, Dolce & Gabbana, Giant Noise and more.

A graduate of St. Norbert College in De Pere, WI and the University of Westminster in London, UK, Nick has 15 years of hands-on experience at all levels of event production, most notably as talent buyer, production manager and festival producer. Nick's passion for the business of music, combined with his professional background, has resulted in a multidimensional skillset that includes business planning, high-level budget management, brand development, market analysis and coordinating large event teams.
