

boneyard

also known as the “swamp”, this is the area, usually back of house, where several Site related items are stored for usage.

Most boneyards will have space set aside for an office or sea container that contains tools, gear, and other site related needs. There will also be space for forklifts, fencing, bike rack, plywood, pallets, and other related items.