

RF

short for radio frequency spectrum, this applies to equipment that require radio transmissions. Examples include wireless microphones, two way radios, cellular networks, broadcasting, wireless internet, and others.