

spider box

an electrical box that features several different outlets; often used when several circuits' worth of power are needed in a small amount of space, such as a stage or a row of food / art / bar vendors.

